

BIOGRAPHY

Kelli McCoy,
Program Integration Manager
NASA KSC

Kelli McCoy has been working in Kennedy Space Center's Launch Services Program for about a year managing budget and contract issues for several of LSP's missions. She came to KSC in January 2004 after completing her masters degree in Industrial and Systems Engineering from Georgia Tech and a bachelors degree in Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering from Tennessee Tech University ('02). Kelli is a member of the Project Management Institute and the Institute of Industrial Engineers. Her other work experience includes internships with Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and Stennis Space Center. Although new to NASA, her "fresh" views are expected to help the Launch Services Program continue to excel.

NASA Project Management Conference